Cameron Park, CA 95682

Dear Cameron Park residents,

Like you, we are devastated by the damage caused by the storms in late December/early January. Our Fire Department worked hard to assess impacts from the floods, and we are in discussions with other agencies about repairs needed for damaged infrastructure to help prevent additional flooding this winter. This includes coordinating with the County of El Dorado to secure federal disaster relief funding.

In addition to assessing and addressing current damage, we are working with the County on long-term planning efforts to identify larger infrastructure improvements needed to protect residents, businesses, and their properties. As storms have shown to become more intense in recent years, we recognize the urgent need to protect residents from future disasters. We are partnering with the El Dorado Water Agency on a drainage study to assess vulnerable areas which will help us formulate various projects to better protect our community.

Our partnership with the County is a critical part of this effort. District Two Supervisor George Turnboo, who represents Cameron Park, explains that “the collaborative and long-term planning effort includes identifying and categorizing stormwater challenges, determining which projects are best suited to make the necessary improvements, and then prioritizing projects for implementation. These investments are essential to ensuring public safety and protecting Cameron Park residents now and into the future.”

We will continue to keep you updated on these critical stormwater management efforts.

Sincerely,
